

Welcome to The

Climate Summit

The Climate Summit is a series of carbon-light e-conferences starting Sunday, April 18, 2010 for the 40th anniversary of Earth Week. Trusted, respected and influential people are gathering from the communities of science, spirit, business, youth and others. Please join us. Registration is free and easy at www.theclimatesummit.org.

The Climate Summit's pool of speakers includes Bill McKibben, the founder of 350.org, Dr. Rajendra Pachauri, Nobel Prize recipient and IPCC Chairman, Bonnie Nixon of Hewlett-Packard's Sustainability Office and many others. You can speak too! We encourage your participation, sharing ideas and empowering action moving us toward a low-carbon world.

The Climate Summit uses TelePresence and other communications technologies to create a virtual forum that all can attend, while reducing the amount of carbon required transporting participants across the world. Individuals and groups can connect to The Climate Summit from their homes, villages, towns and major cities. Our distinguished Summit RoundTable members will engage you, one another and the audience on a series of pressing topics grouped as follows:

- Mobilization – Joint strategies, taking effective action, unifying our efforts
- De-Carbonize – Low carbon, clean development, carbon markets, conservation & more
- Global Forum – Joining scientific, spiritual, business and ethical views and initiatives.

Online audience members can interact with the RoundTable via email, text message, telephone and video through moderators. Audience participants can ask questions, suggest topics and interact with others around the world.

A second Forum is being considered for May 27th, and will be entitled The Climate Summit – Save the Rainforest in conjunction with the State of the World Forum's event in Salvador, Brazil. Our Forums are your opportunity to share information, learn the science, prepare for the future, and engage with others globally at this defining moment of our time.

'The Climate Summit – Honoring Earth Week' will commence at 11:00 AM in California, USA (PDT). This equates to 7:00 PM in London and 8:00 PM in Geneva on Sunday, 18 April. Click here for times around the world. Future Climate Summits will convene in cities of Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania. This initial Summit will feature three 1-hour segments, with half-hour programmed intermissions. Upon registering you are invited to join an online 'think tank' hosted by MIT's Center for Collective Intelligence, and their Climate Collaboratorium, for pre- and post-Summit discussions and action.

RoundTable participants in The Climate Summit include:

William Becker, Presidential Climate Action Plan
Rev. Richard Cizik, Evangelical Christian Leader
Sébastien Duyck, UN Youth Climate Constituency
Dr. Riane Eisler, Social Scientist, Attorney & Author
Andrew Harvey, Founder, Institute for Sacred Activism
Anna Keenan, International Youth Climate Movement

Dr. Ervin Laszlo, Founder, Club of Budapest
Bill McKibben, Founder, 350.org
Bonnie Nixon, Dir. Sustainability, Hewlett-Packard
Dr. Michael Oppenheimer, Princeton University
Dr. Rajendra Pachauri, Chair of IPCC
Roz Savage, Trans-Oceanic Rower

We look forward to your joining us.
Mark your calendar, 18th April for The Climate Summit

March 20, 2010